The Faculty of Law – a Brief note :

Assiut University is the first university in Upper Egypt. It includes 18 practical and theoretical faculties. Faculty of Law, being one of the earlier Faculties, was inaugurated in 1975. From that time on, the faculty has carried an unwritten but known mission for all the university employees and the surrounding community. This mission was made clear in 2005 by the Dean, Heads of departments, some faculty members and employees and it was approved by the faculty council. This mission was published this year 16/4/2007 and will be printed in the faculty guide and on its web site, and will be considered for an update every 5 years.

First: The Mission

In accordance with the mission of Assuit University, Faculty of law aims at the following :

- 1- Graduating qualified and trained cadres to practice legal works which relate to both Public & Private laws, Islamic legislations, Economics and Public Finance.
- 2- Spreading knowledge and deepening academic research in these specializations.
- 3- Participating in community and environmental developments through the spreading legal awareness, providing legal consultations and training in the mentioned specialization fields to all the working organizations in the surrounding communities.

Faculty`s mission would be subject to updating every years :

The faculty is considered a source of knowledge in law and legislation. It is also a place of having generations capable of working in all legal organizations and institutions, and free professions in local and international communities.

Strategic Aims of the Faculty:

- 1- Preparing an academic program that satisfies the modern developments in legal systems and guarantees providing local and regional work market with legal cadres acquainted with society problems and capable of solving it by legal methods.
- 2- Preparing the faculty of law to be a legal experience center which provides the surrounding community, governmental institutions and civil community institutions with experiences.
- 3- Reviving morals, traditions and national heritage and deepening the feeling of belonging to home country.
- 4- Promoting educational, research and administrative programs and developing base structure (material and human).
- 5- Developing research plans in the faculty to contribute in practical solutions of the society problems.
- 6- Creating administrative mechanisms for continuous scientific cooperation between Faculty of Law and all other faculties and legal organizations inside and outside Egypt in the legal fields.

Second: Administration:

1- Organizational Structure

Law of Universities Organization, issued in 1972, defined tasks and duties of every mentioned council. Hence, members of the scientific departments councils, the faculty council and Vice-Deans cooperate with the Dean in planning the strategic issues, setting the general policy of the faculty and in making any amendment or arrangement on the organizational structure of the faculty. The Dean , Vice- Deans and heads of departments handle the work in the faculty.

The organizational structure of the faculty includes the following administrations:

- 1- The Faculty Registrar.
- 2- Higher Studies & Cultural Relations Administrations
- 3- The library .
- 4- Financial Affairs & Accounting Administration (Purchasing, stores and treasury Administrations.)
- 5- Faculty council secretarial Administration.
- 6- Administrative Affairs Administration. (Personal Affairs Administration).
- 7- General services Administration
- 8- Youth care Administration
- 9- Educational Affairs Administrations.
- 10- Planning and Following Administration
- 11- Public relations Administration.
- 12- Faculty members services Administration
- 13- Graduates' Affairs Administrations
- 14- Security Administration
- 15- Computer Center.
- 16- Legal Affairs Administration

These Administrations handle all the managerial, financial and service tasks which help the scientific Depts. to accomplish their tasks. Each Administration works under the leadership of a director and number of employees.

2- Selection of Academic Leaders:

(A) Dean selection:

The University President appoints the faculty Dean or the institute affiliated to the university for renewable three years:

In case of non- existence of professors in the faculty or the institute, the University President has the right to appoint any professor from the faculties or institutes affiliated to the university or appoint any assistant from the same faculty to perform the tasks of the Dean.

The University President has the right to depose the Dean before the end of his working period by an effect resolution after the approval of the university council if the Dean violated the University Laws.

(B) Vice- Deans Selection:

Each faculty or institute has two Vice-Deans who help the Dean in administering the faculty or the institute affairs. When the Dean is absent, the most senior Vice-Dean handles his tasks. One of them handles the Educational Affairs and the Students' Cultural and Social Affairs while the other handles Post Graduate Studies and Research affairs.

It is allowed to appoint a third Vice-Dean to handle the community services and environmental development affairs and he becomes a member in the council of community service and environment development.

In some faculties or institutes, it is allowed to appoint one Vice-Dean by a resolution from the University President after the approval of both the faculty council and the university council.

The appointed Vice-Dean should be one of the faculty professors as per the University President resolution after the Dean nomination for a renewable three years.

(article 47-Law of Universities Organization).

C- Heads of Departments Selection:

The Head of the department council is appointed from the most senior three Professors in the department as per the resolution of the University President after the Dean's nomination for a renewable three years. This Law is considered inapplicable in case of existing less than three professors and the most senior professor is appointed as Head of the department council.

In case there is other professors in the department , the Head of the department council is considered retired when he is appointed as the faculty Dean or Vice- Dean.

However, if there is no professor at the Dept. The most senior assistant professor handles the task of "Head of the Dept" in this concern, he has the right to attend the sessions of the faculty/ institute council except when it is discussing the appointment of a professor.

If there was no professor but a foreign one, he could handle the task of "Head of the Dept." only if required and according to a decision from the University President after consulting the Faculty Dean (article 56 of Law of Universities Organization).

3- The efficacy of polices, systems and practices:

First: Questionnaires

1- Dean's questionnaire:

A- Objective: Recognizing the faculty members opinions about the Dean's performance in order to be developed.

B. Procedures: This questionnaire is done by a previously prepared pattern once per year, it is discussed and the results are presented in the presence of the Dean, the faculty members, and to the faculty council.

C. Obstacles:

- 1- Deficiency of the number of participants
- 2- Multiplicity of items in the questionnaire and the need for revising and reformulating it.
- 3- Inaccuracy of filling the questionnaire

2- Head of Department questionnaire:

A. Objective: Evaluating the performance of the Head of Department as he is the effective element in improving the educational process.

B. Procedures:

It is done by a previously prepared pattern, once per year. It is discussed and the results are presented in the presence of the Head of department and the faculty members and to the faculty council.

3- Questionnaires of specific administrations of the faculty

A. Objective: Evaluating the performance of the faculty administrations through the academic year and recognizing its suitability for the improvement of the educational process.

B. Procedures: Distributing the previously prepared patterns on various administrations to know their opinions through this questionnaire. Then collecting them and getting out the results and presenting them to be discussed in the faculty council.

Second: Suggestions & Complaints box

A. Objective: Receiving complaints and suggestions of students and employees.

B. Procedures: Periodically revising the students & and employees complaints and suggestions to improve the educational process.

Third: Regarding the students' opinions

A. Objectives: Evaluating the performance, improving curricula teaching and developing the educational process.

B. Procedures: This mechanism is done in every questionnaire related to the course once every semester.

C. Participants: Faculty students (Bachelor's stage).

Fourth: The scientific conference of the faculty and the department

(A) Formation:

The faculty members, their representatives from their assistants with a percentage that does not exceed 30% of the faculty members and students with a percentage that does not exceed 20% of the students.

(B): Procedure: It is held once every academic year. As for the department, it is held once every semester.

(c) Specializations: The scientific conference concerns with teaching and discussing all educational and scientific research affairs in the faculty or the department; also, evaluating the set systems in order to trace the educational and scientific progress and the requirements of the community. (article 50, 63 Law of Universities Organization).

(D) Recommendations of the scientific conference:

- 1- Assuring the importance that the exams should include questions that measure the cognitive aspects and skills of the students; and recognizing the students abilities and ways of distinguishing among them.
- 2- Publishing the faculty mission among the faculty members, their assistants and all the faculty employees and students.
- 3- Assuring the importance of meeting the set dates of finalizing correction works and the importance that the course professor should participate in correction process as long as there is no legal excuse that may prevent him from the correction works.
